~Ed Dialozo (SLZUSD) asked about Single Subjects authorization. Linda discussed the ways a teacher can qualify under VPSS; faculty also shared that building an added SS authorization onto Multiple Subjects (and vice versa) is a short process and one which we advise candidates about, especially as they complete their dual credentials and are working on the Masters research piece.

Dean Carolyn Nelson joined the group during the meeting and districts shared with her their concern about the new admission policy of alternate years for admission of candidates in MS Disabilities given the numbers of positions in their schools. The Dean addressed the need for better recruitment to build numbers and what the numbers need to look like. Participants also asked about when there would be more SPED faculty positions. Dean Nelson emphasized the relationship of numbers of candidates to this as well and making plans for enhanced recruitment in 2015-16. Faculty shared that currently, 32 units of SPED coursework (8 courses) 36 units is a FT faculty load in the Ed Specialist programs are taught by part-time lecturers, and this will increase by at least 12 units (3 courses) in 2015-16, as Ann Halvorsen is moving toward retirement with teaching half time, which is Jacki Anderson's current status. Most of the SPED University supervision of our student teaching and Intern candidates is also provided by lecturer supervisors. The lecturers are a strong complement to the faculty as each is a practitioner teacher concurrently or in the very recent past.

3. Discussion/ updates on the status of District programs, needs and services, including Induction programs for 2015-16 .

Induction : Margaret F noted that SFUSD is planning to develop a program document for SPED Induction and submit to CTC. Other programs are moving ahead in implementation. Leonar Rebosura, Barbara Bashr and others are closely involved with this. There is a monthly meeting of the East Bay Induction programs. Contact Lydia Schneider at lschnei@srvusd.net

Paraprofessional Supervision and Support: Discussion occurred around how we prepare candidates for this key area of competence. Assignments and classroom based expectations were discussed. Resources for professional development were highlighted and Ann will be attaching to the email a pdf of a
